

Prolog

I was riding the waves of live.

Up and down and lost and found.

Helldogs and angels crossed my way.

Promised me love, forever, soon.

Later I understand, these were only lies.

Hear! The bell beat in the midnight storm.

And still I'm waiting for the train to the moon.