

Train To The Moon

I go through the empty streets

my mind fade away

Feel the cold and emptiness and the pain remains

I'm standing on the platform

And look at the tracks

Street lamps in the fog

There's no turning back

Helldogs and angels coming soon

And I enter – the train to the moon

Can't forget, but I forgive you

You never lost my dreams

Big orange moon is shining

From far sounds locomotive steam

I'm standing on the platform

And look at the tracks

Street lamps in the fog

There's no turning back

Helldogs and angels coming soon

And I enter – the train to the moon

Lyrics: Thomas Flechs